W. L. TUCKER,
at "Lion Drug Store."

This is Pretty Good.

Mr. John C. Goodwin, a carpenter of Danville, Ill., writes: "About two weeks ago a heavy saw log fell upon my foot very badly crushing it, so that I was unable to walk at all. I sent for a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment and kept my foot well saturated with it. It is now two weeks since this happened, and my foot is nearly well and I am at work. Had I not used Snow Liniment I should have been laid up at least two months. For healing Wounds, Sprains, Sores and Bruises it has no equal. No inflammation can exist where Snow Liniment is used. 'You can use this letter.'"

Beware of all white Liniments substituted for Snow Liniment. There is no other Liniment like Ballard's Snow Liniment. Sold by H. C. Risher & Co.

LIVE STOCK INDUSTRY.

Governor James Stephen Hogg Addresses

THE CONVENTION OF CATTLEMEN.

He Made a Strong Talk, Which Was Full of Practical Suggestions, Based on a Thorough Knowledge of the Situation—His Speech Was Roundly Applauded.

AUSTIN, Feb. 2.—The stockmen's convention met in representative hall Tuesday, the attendance being quite large. It was called to order by B. A. Rodgers of Liberty Hill, who explained that the object was to organize a state association of persons interested in the live stock industry. The necessity of organization was urged, the immense interests at stake requiring protection which could be secured alone by co-operation.

Judge J. B. Rector of Austin was elected temporary president and George B. Loving of Fort Worth secretary.

Mayor McDonald made the speech of welcome, which was responded to by Secretary Loving. Mr. Loving had no notice, but made an elegant impromptu talk upon the situation of the stock interests.

Judge Rector exhibited a statement of the value of the stock interests and urged organization.

Governor Hogg was introduced and made a strong talk, which was full of practical suggestions, based on a thorough knowledge of the situation. He had evidently been investigating the stock question when Austin reporters supposed he was preparing his call for an extra session.

He declined to advise cattlemen how to breed, feed and fatten stock, as they knew all about it, but had his views as to what should be done after the cattle are fattened for the market. Texas is the largest cattle producing state and should lead also in horses, mules and sheep, climate and all other conditions being favorable. Fully half of the state is adapted to horse, sheep and cattle raising and the other half to stock farming. Lanham's jumbo district is equal in area to the balance of Texas and now 75 per cent of that district is under wire fences. Stock growing on a large scale dominates half of the state. Parts of the west for all time to come will be permanently given to stock growing, and with the increase of rain and irrigation the man with the hoe will make the large areas of fertile lands agricultural. The interests will go hand in hand. The representatives present represent one-eighth of the wealth of Texas. Live stock by the assessment of 1891 is valued at $100,000,000 and the total valuation of all property at $800,000,000. Without including their lands, they represent one-eighth of the wealth. The question is, what are the barriers in the way of success? What cuts off the profit on the way of live stock to the markets, and how is this organization to benefit stock raisers? You raise stock and sell without fattening, you rush beeves to market without preparing them.

The Profit Is in Fattening them, and after all your work in raising them you sell poor cattle, losing the only profit in the business. It is as easy to fatten as to raise beeves and takes less time. You complain of hard times, when you are producing millions of stock which you turn over to the speculators to fatten. Thereby you turn over the cream of your business to others and are bound to have hard times. Why can't you get together and have an understanding that you will not market poor cattle; that you will feed them and utilize your provender.

The cotton seed, corn and grass will make them fat for less money than it takes in any other country. Your cattle are marketed poor and all, poor and fat, sold as Texas cattle have that reputation, and on account of it suffer in price. You should get the reputation of selling fat stock. That itself is a big factor in raising prices. But another thing, if your cattle are fattened until they lard the ground, dropping grease as they walk, you cannot sell to advantage in the market so long as you are subject to the restrictions put upon you. You suffer from fetters on shipments from which others are free.

The governor here recited their grievances against the arbitrary cattle quarantine, which prevented free shipment to Chicago and other markets. Since congress met the commissioner of agriculture had adopted a new line. You always had trouble with quarantines of other states. They always said your cattle had Texas fever, and I think there is truth in the complaint that their stock crossing the trails of Texas cattle or drinking where they have drunk are infected and die with Texas fever. Owing to these complaints congress passed a law authorizing the commissioner of agriculture to appoint inspectors and draw a line against this fever and to make regulations to protect cattle north of the line against fever-breeding cattle south of it. The line has been drawn and you have a uniform system of regulations by the Federal authority, which is better than the harsh and conflicting regulations by various states. Still this line is an impediment to marketing your cattle in northern markets.

You can't ship your cattle across the dead line from the 5th of February to the 1st of December, except for the purpose of immediate slaughter. You can't sell them anywhere above the line of fattening when they get to market. They are put in separate pens from all other cattle. Your finest fat cattle are put in pens which are marked in big letters:

"Texas Cattle. Splenic Fever."

The effect upon prices is certain when you brand the cattle as infected with the loathsome disease. This stigma depreciates their value beyond computation, and you are forced to sell immediately to the big combine. You are in their clutches; you have no power to take them away from the pens and fatten or hold for better prices. You must take prices fixed by the big four. Now what are you going to do about it? You see you men are raising cattle on $3 an acre land, competing with men up there raising cattle on $50 an acre land. You should be masters of the situation, but are fettered with burdens equal to the iniquitous tariff. Those men up in Ohio and Illinois are used to protection against foreign nations and are now growing richer under protection against your stock.

The governor, after more elaborately depicting the situation, put in a plea for Secretary Rusk, who was, he said, in sympathy with stockmen, and has a strong liking for Texas. He is an honest, rugged man, a brave man. There are not enough men on earth to terrorize that old man. The governor read a letter from Mr. Rusk and proceeded to second his recommendation that Texas have a commissioner to meet him and other state commissioners in fixing the dead lines. The governor also advised what he deemed best to relieve cattle growers from the burdens he had described. In brief, he thought they should fatten their own cattle and should establish packeries throughout the state and especially on the seaboard, so that cattle could be marketed all over the world.

Deep water would under this policy enable them to market their cattle at home and make Texas independent of the big combine. He said the previous efforts in establishing slaughtering houses were unsuccessful because the transportation companies were inimical, but now, under the mileage system, cattle could be taken to the seaboard. He endorsed the railroad commission and its work, which had been for the good of Texas.

His speech was well received and applauded.

Mysterious Disappearance of an Attorney.

EL PASO, TEX., Feb. 3.—E. N. Ronquillo, an attorney of this city, is missing, and grave fears are entertained by his family that something serious has happened to him. Tuesday of last week a man from New Mexico took him from home, presumably on business, and nothing has been heard from him since. Mr. Ronquillo is the heir of the Ronquillo grant, covering thousands of acres in western Texas, which is now involved in litigation. The grant takes in the Cibola creek mining properties, owned by San Francisco capitalists, and many thousand acres of public school and railroad lands. Chicago parties, represented here by E. D. Owen of that city, purchased Ronquillo's title to the grant a year or so ago, and are suing to recover property and damages from the Cibola creek and other mining companies operating within its boundaries. Mr. Ronquillo is a valuable witness in the case, which will be tried at the April term of court, and his failing to put in an appearance would naturally break the evidence and weaken Mr. Owen's chances to recover title to the grant.

Found a Fortune.

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 3.—A fortune lost for a dozen years to the heirs of old John Wise, late of Sumner county, was discovered by John W. Wise, a grandson of the deceased, while digging a foundation for a new structure on the farm on which the old man died. Thirty-five thousand dollars in gold is said to be the amount recovered. Old Wise was a miser during all his long life. He struck it rich out in Colorado and then settled on a farm near Conway Springs. He distrusted banks and turned all his money into gold and hid it away, not even his wife knowing its whereabouts, though he sometimes spoke to his children about having saved a fortune for them. One day he fell dead from heart disease and took his secret to the grave with him. The search for the hidden money was kept up for years without success, but so sure were the heirs that it was buried somewhere about the farm that they have refused most flattering offers for the land. In the barrel in which was found the gold was old Wise's will, and by its terms the finder, John W. Wise, gets all the money.

Hedspeth Tracked.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Feb. 3.—Marion Hedspeth, notorious leader of the gang which held up an express train at Glendale, has been tracked to this city. One of Pinkerton's men at Portland, Ore., believes Hedspeth boarded a lumber vessel at Burnard's inlet for Valparaiso about two weeks ago and is now beyond the jurisdiction of the United States.

Do You Know It?

A common cough is the most dangerous thing in the world; a slight hacking cough is also very dangerous, as it always leads to Bronchitis and Consumption. Don't neglect them. In selecting a remedy for Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis, be sure and get one that is not full of opium and one that will not produce Constipation. Ballard's Horehound Syrup does not constipate, remember this. It is perfectly harmless for children, and it's the most soothing and healing Throat and Lung medicine in the world. It cures Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Sore Lungs, tickling in the throat and greatly strengthens the Lungs after Pneumonia. Sold by H. C. Risher & Co.

The Best in Texas.

McALISTER LUMP is the best coal sold in Texas. Lacy is the sole agent.

A National Event.

The holding of the World's Fair in a city scarcely fifty years old will be a remarkable event, but whether it will really benefit this nation as much as the discovery of the Restorative Nervine by Dr. Franklin Miles is doubtful. This is just what the American people need to cure their excessive nervousness, dyspepsia, headache, dizziness, sleeplessness, neuralgia, nervous debility, dullness, confusion of mind, etc. It acts like a charm. Trial bottles and fine book on "Nervous and Heart Diseases," with unequalled testimonials, free at H. C. Risher. It is warranted to contain no opium, morphine or dangerous drugs.

Notice.

I have this day purchased the stock of M. T. Boynton on the corner of Fourth and Moore streets, and solicit your patronage. Yours truly, A. W. BOYNTON.

SOCIETY NOTE.

Items and communications intended for this department should be sent to No. 309 North Twelfth street or telephoned to No. 30, on or before Friday afternoon of each week, in order to receive proper attention. News notes received after 10 o'clock Saturday morning cannot appear until the next week, however much we may regret the delay.

No one sells the CELEBRATED McALISTER coal but Lacy.

SUPERIORITY.

Not Equality, but true Superiority over all other Blood Remedies.

Mercury enters into the composition of many blood medicines, while with others (iodide of potash is the principal ingredient). Both these substances are poisons, and while in some instances they lessen the severity of the ravages of blood poison, their use in the end are more hurtful than otherwise. Bear in mind Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla is strictly a vegetable compound, yet its effect on blood filled with poisonous germ matter is like water on the forked tongues of a flaming fire. It subdues the evil instantly, even when other medicines have failed. Again, Bull's Sarsaparilla is frequently used after the system has become poisoned by the use of mercury and potash. It quickly eliminates these mineral poisons from the system, thus preventing and curing mercurial rheumatism, potash sores, etc. In all syphilitic and scrofulous affections, Bull's Sarsaparilla is a true panacea. The sequelae of blood poison, such as salt rheum, eczema, king's evil, scald head, boils, carbuncles, itch, sores, rheumatism, neuralgia, etc., all permanently disappear if the use of Bull's Sarsaparilla is continued a sufficient length of time.

MERCURY

W. A. Smith, Paducah, Ky., writes: "I was down sick with malarial fever for over a month. The doctor gave me too much calomel and mercury, and when I began to get better rheumatism set in, and my left leg was made crooked. I thought I would be a cripple for life, but an acquaintance got me to use Bull's Sarsaparilla, which gave me strength and cured my rheumatism, and now my leg is nearly straight again and I walk on it very readily."

AND POTASH.

R. E. Walton, Cairo, Ill., writes: "I experienced the horrors of blood poison for four long years. I had three running sores on my body as large as my hand that would never heal, and over a dozen smaller ones. My hair and eye-brows and whiskers all came out and I looked like a perfect scarecrow. I became discouraged trying medicine, but as a last hope tried Bull's Sarsaparilla. The use of 28 bottles made me well, but there are scars on my body that look like they had been burns."

Children like Dr. John Bull's Worm Destroyers. They taste good and never fail to remove worms if there are any. Price 25 cents. Try them.

"The demand for Smith's Tonic Syrup is unequalled by any other chills medicine made. My sales are immense." P. J. Dreher, Leesburg, Ill.
